I support the corporate transactional team and wider corporate division with their professional development and learning needs.

Using my experience in transactional and commercial law gained in-house and in practice I organise, write and deliver a full training programme covering our junior lawyers up to our most senior team members, involving external speakers where beneficial.

I also collate, write material for, and edit our precedent bank, working closely with our legal technologist on automating our precedents.

My role is keep our lawyers up to date on new developments in corporate and commercial law and specialist business sectors, and I produce guidance notes for our lawyers and clients on legal issues, as well as researching and advising team members on new or less frequently encountered areas of law.
