I'm a senior associate in the property dispute resolution team and specialise in all aspects of property disputes for a variety of clients providing practical, client focused advice.

With over 17 years' experience, my role includes working with a wide variety of clients on a broad range of property disputes. I provide relevant and effective advice on formal litigation, negotiation, strategic risk management, alternative dispute resolution and day-to-day portfolio management.

I work closely with our transactional real estate team in relation to institutional clients' property portfolio management as well as providing advice to private individuals.

I recently secured pro bono advice for a not-for-profit organisation enabling them to open a community hub and mental health facility with a particular focus on helping young people achieve their ambitions.
