

Bumper promotion round for Cripps

Law firm Cripps has announced 27 senior promotions across its legal and business support teams. The promotions will be effective from 1 May 2022.

The round includes seven new salaried partners: Amy Jackson, Kate Hughes, Rachel Holdaway, and Richard Housley (real estate) and John Kirkwood, Lowri Jones and Tom Bourne in (corporate). In addition, Simon Jones, Caroline Hedley and Steve Ellis have been elevated to legal director.

The firm has also promoted eight individuals to managing associate, six to senior associate, plus three managerial appointments in the business development and marketing team. There were also 11 junior promotions.

Managing partner Cavin Tyler said: "Every year, I am impressed by the dedication of our people who consistently deliver a first-class service. That we have been able to make so many promotions reflects the firm's continued growth and enhanced capability to assist clients with their most complex and important issues.

"It's great to see our people honing their careers at Cripps, knowing that we have cultivated an environment where excellence thrives and is rewarded. I'd like to congratulate everyone who was promoted in this round."