As a senior associate in the employment team I advise both employers and workers on a range of employment matters, assisting them with any issues they may encounter.

My role includes advising both organisations and individuals on a wide variety of employment issues including providing HR support and dealing with any potentially contentious matters.

I enjoy working both as part of a team and alone, always approaching any tasks enthusiastically and ensuring that any deadlines are met. I listen to what my client wants and will work closely with them to help achieve the right solution.

No two days are the same and I enjoy the challenge that each day brings.

Clients and colleagues praise me my reliability and for being good at relating to both clients and other team members.
