

Cripps praised for 'exceptional service' in leading industry guide

Cripps' wide-ranging legal expertise and impeccable client service have once again been recognised by industry guide Chambers UK.

Chambers and Partners is considered to be one of the leading independent UK legal directories used to inform legal buyers' decision-making. Rankings are based on extensive research which includes interviews with clients, legal commentators and other professionals.

In the latest 2023 edition, Cripps is ranked in 15 practice areas, including a new band 1 ranking for Intellectual Property, recognising the commercial team's expertise in this field.

The firm was also placed in the top tier for the South/Kent in five additional practice areas: Agriculture & Rural Affairs; Family/Matrimonial Law; Planning; Professional Negligence, and Real Estate Litigation.

The guide featured high praise from Cripps' clients. The family team were said to have 'the expertise to handle whatever situation arises'. Meanwhile, the real estate team were commended for their 'exceptional service' which 'goes over and above' and the Corporate team were described as 'seasoned professionals' who are 'able to deal with all cases'.

Additionally, 27 of Cripps' lawyers are recognised as being leaders in their field, including new rankings for Julie Hughes (Mid Market M&A & Private Equity in The South – Band 3) and Helen Fisher (Family/Matrimonial in Kent – Associate to Watch).
